

Indiana has a good no call law that protects us from unwanted intrusions in our homes. I believe that the FCC should not implement any proposal that would lessen Indiana's Telephone Privacy law protections.

Indiana's law has allowed time at home without unwanted intrusions by telephone marketers. Any lessening of this law will have a negative effect on the people of Indiana.

George W. Kuntzman
Monroe, IN